The PO Box Management module of the Integrated Postal Architecture is known by the product name of PYXIS and is identified by the use of the PYXIS logo. The PYXIS system can work in conjunction with the branch automation system CORVUS to capture transaction information at the counter, routing the information to the PYXIS central management systems. PYXIS can also operate as a free-standing solution.

Overview

The majority of Postal Enterprises offer a PO Box service to their customers. In many Posts, the PO Box is the primary method of mail item delivery, with household delivery reserved for only the premium mail courier services such as EMS.

The IPA – PO Box Management System provides two levels of functionality, the customer serving functions and the management functions. The customer serving functions can be carried out at the counter by the IPA PO Box Management System or the CORVUS branch/ counter automation system. The management functions can be carried out at a central facility, a regional office or in the back office of a post office.

- ⇒ Renewal fees (any period)
- ⇒ Orders for additional keys
- ⇒ Lock change fees for lost key
- ⇒ Redirections

The management functions include:

- ⇒ Maintenance of a central database of PO Box customers with all relevant information
- ⇒ Primary and associate users
- ⇒ Multiple charging periods
- ⇒ Change of fees
- ⇒ Sending renewal notices and payment reminders
- ⇒ Return of deposits when box is closed
- ⇒ Automatic closure of box due to non-payment - schedule lock change
- ⇒ Retained credit for future payments
- ⇒ Waiting list management
- ⇒ Transfer of boxes
- ⇒ Interfacing with MS Office to generate various communications
- ⇒ A range of management reports relating to the PO Box management business including:
  - Available box report
